Read at your normal speed.

The shorter books can be read 3-4 times in one sitting. When you start glossing over words, stop. Begin again another time. Longer books can be split into morning and evening readings, but can be completed in one day.

Use a translation you can understand well.

Listen to an audiobook version as you read along in your Bible on the days you are not concentrating well.

Underline the verses that continue to “speak” to you through each reading. They’re jumping out at you for a reason and you’ll be able to find them easily later on.

This may take longer than a year to complete. Don’t get discouraged. Modify it to benefit you! It’s a long term approach with eternal benefits!
